Dr . K.C.G.'s corner

Recap: Dr.Vergheese found an architect and prepared a blueprint for a six - storeyed building with an air - conditioned restaurant, bar, coffee - shop, Jacuzzi, sauna, table tennis and squash courts , fitness centres, library, party rooms, card rooms, internet facility, swimming pool, guest rooms and so on.

Dr.Vergheese used to play tennis at the T-Nagar Social Club, which was near to his residence.B.R.Adithyan was the president of the Club at that time and the committee members included K.S.ramamurthy, B.Venkatesh, V.R.Ramanathan, M.K.Rao.

Dr. K.C.G. VERGHESE

The Government of Nepal sent a delegation to HIET to invite Dr.K.C.G.Vergheese to visit Katmandu.

Dr. Vergheese went to Himalayan kingdom with Mrs. Elizabeth and Mr. Anand. They were given a warm welcome at the army headquarters and they witnessed a special parade and salute. They were told that some Nepalese students had been educated at HIET earlier and those students felt that the training given in Hindustan Institutions was as good as and more cost effective than courses offered by some European countries.

Dr.Vergheese and family had a great deal about the Everest sightseeing tour. The beauty of the Himalayan mountain ranges cannot be described in words. A breathtaking view of miles and miles of snow - clad mountains and valleys glistening in the Sun. No trees or greenery. Just a blanket of snow.

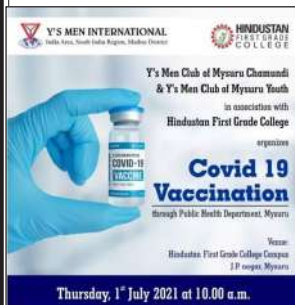

As the Boeing aircraft started climbing higher and higher, a guide explained the route and gave them the name of every peak that came into view. They were soon flying at thirty thousand feet. It took them an hour to reach Mt.Everest. When the pilot announced the sighting of the world's summit, they really felt on the top of the world.

The clouds had dispersed and they could get a clear view of the majestic splendour of that treacherous and seductive peak that had claimed so many human lives. Dr. Vergheese wondered how Tenzing and Hillary and so many others had risked their lives to get to the summit.

The aircraft circled two or three times to allow all the passengers to have an eye-ful. Then the pilot announced that the Chinese Air Traffic Control authorities were asking him to go back. They were very near to Tibetan order. Perhaps they perceived a security threat. So the aircraft turned back to Katmandu.
